

ANNOUNCEMENT: DISCIPLINARY MEETING

The Department of Arabic, Islamic and Oriental Studies of the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid and the Department of Turkish Studies and Modern Asian Studies of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens are launching a Disciplinary Meeting on Contemporary Turkish Studies.

The major purpose of this meeting is to allow scholars across the CIVIS Alliance to better know each other and learn about academic activities carried out by members of other CIVIS universities, to foster collaboration for joint teaching and research on the field of contemporary Turkish Studies. We hope to enjoy an open and stimulating conversation to start exploring new ways of collaboration. This invitation is addressed to academics and researchers with an active role in the field of contemporary Turkish Studies, who may represent different disciplines or starting points, either from the social and political sciences or humanities.

To get the discussion started, we would like to suggest a few topics for discussion and exchange of ideas:

- Round of introduction and self-presentations
- Proposal to organize a short mobility program/seminar on “Literature and Turkish Politics” in summer 2022
- Proposal to organize a PhD seminar/colloquium to share and disseminate the research work of PhD students within the CIVIS Alliance
- Other proposals and ideas

DATE AND TIME: 3 December 2021, 10.30-12.30 CET

WHO: Professors, teaching staff, researchers

WHERE: ZOOM (The meeting-link will be sent to the registered colleagues)

DEADLINE for registration: 30 November 2021

REGISTRATION: For registration, questions, and further information, please contact

Carmen Rodríguez (Department of Arabic and Islamic Studies, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid): carmen.rodriiguez.lopez@uam.es and

Konstantinos Gogos (Department of Turkish Studies and Modern Asian Studies, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens): kgogos@turkmas.uoa.gr