Erasmus Mundus: Institutional impact on learning and teaching, international cooperation, and administration

Online workshop for academic and administrative staff involved in the design and delivery of Erasmus Mundus study programmes

Date and time

Tuesday, 17 October 2023, 10:00 – 12:30 CEST

Format

Online - hosted on Teams platform

The link will be shared after registration.

Objectives

This online workshop is organised as part of the ongoing study exploring the impact of 20 years of Erasmus Mundus, with the following aim:

- To investigate the perceived impact of Erasmus Mundus programmes at the institutional level;
- To exchange good practices in mainstreaming and amplifying impact achieved through Erasmus Mundus study programmes on participating higher education institutions;
- To discuss key success factors based on experiences of Erasmus Mundus programmes to recommendations for the next programming period.

To meet these objectives, the following questions will be discussed during the workshop:

- Q1 What is the impact of your Erasmus Mundus programme(s) on learning and teaching contents, methods or practices at your institution, if any?
- Q2 What is the impact of your Erasmus Mundus programme(s) on international collaboration at your institution, if any?
- Q3 What is the impact of your Erasmus Mundus programme(s) on administrative processes at your institution, if any?
- Q4 What is your vision on sustaining and strengthening your Erasmus Mundus programme(s) in the future (e.g. in terms of its design and promotion)?

Workshop participants will be invited to exchange good practices on the above-questions.
