by plane at El. Venizelos International Airport \(ATH\)

From the Athens airport to city center you can use the following means:

- By metro

The fastest way to get to the city center. The ticket costs € 10, and it allows you to transfer lines or take another means of transportation for 90 minutes.

A transport ticket for two people costs € 14 and € 20 for three people. If you're over 65 years old, less than 18 or have a student's card, you can get a ticket for just € 4.

A 3-day tourist ticket (€ 22) also includes one round-trip journey between the city centre and the airport.

The first train departs from the airport at 6:35am and the last at 11:35pm. The journey from the airport to the Syntagma Square takes approximately 40 minutes.

- By Bus (24h service): X95 SYNTAGMA – ATHENS AIRPORT (EXPRESS)

It takes approximately 1 hour and 10 minutes to get to Athens. The times may vary depending if there is traffic or not.

All airport buses cost € 6 and the ticket is only valid for that specific journey.

Seniors over 65 years old, youth under 18 years old and university students under 25 only pay € 3.

The bus platforms are closer to the arrival terminals than the metro station.

- By Taxi

The journey in taxi from Athens International Airport to the heart of Athens costs € 38 during the day. Between midnight and 5am, the rate is € 53.

The fares are fixed and are per vehicle.

by train at Athens central station "Larissa Station"

Next of the train station exist the "Stathmos Larisis" metro station (red line). Enter the metro towards direction "Elliniko" to reach the city center.

Tickets for all public transport means

The following tickets are valid for the city's public buses, trolleybuses, metro, tram and commuter trains during a given time:

- 90-minute ticket: € 1.40
- 24-hour ticket: € 4.50
- 5-day ticket: € 9
- 3-day tourist ticket (includes return transport from the airport): € 22

Seniors over 65 years old, teenagers under 18 years old, university students under 25 years old can purchase reduced fare tickets. For example, the 90-minute ticket costs € 0.60.
